I Looked Closer . . .

I looked toward this year with anticipation. I realized that this was the beginning, not the end. They were the same old halls, but the faces filling them appeared refreshingly new. Everyone that I came in contact with left a part of themselves in me. The familiar became special, and we shared it all.

hope you go far, but with a brother like

how. See ya,
Jerry Folk*

Everyday Things . . .

I realized people around me were shaping their lives as I shaped mine. I saw joy in the eyes of my friends as we soaked up laughter. I began to see in the simple what combines to make us complex. I saw in the everyday things the bonds that hold us together as masses.

Had New Meaning

I Saw My Friends . . .

I realized how truly different we all were, each in our own special way.
Yet, we got together and grew up, and somehow I knew that this was good.

Learning, Growing .

Ricky a...
 you're a... cute "little as dude. and as sweet. you can
 I hope you never change. I'd really to see that. See you next year and be
 we can always love.
 B.S. I be, Carol ever me, call me. o.k. 2.

For some it was hard; for others easy, to open and extend the boundaries of the mind, to become aware and reap the harvests of learning. We tried to make the most of every experience, to understand the world around us. We found we still had a long way to go.

Dreaming, Preparing . . .

Some returned with definite goals and ideals to work toward. They were the ones who cared about their futures. I watched dreams begin to unfold, tomorrow's hopes inspired, building toward fulfillment. Not a day went by that we didn't wonder what we would be doing tomorrow and what we could do today to make tomorrow easier.

Anticipating and . . .

I felt the fleeting anticipation of special occasions, the stirring of butterflies inside, the excitement in the air.

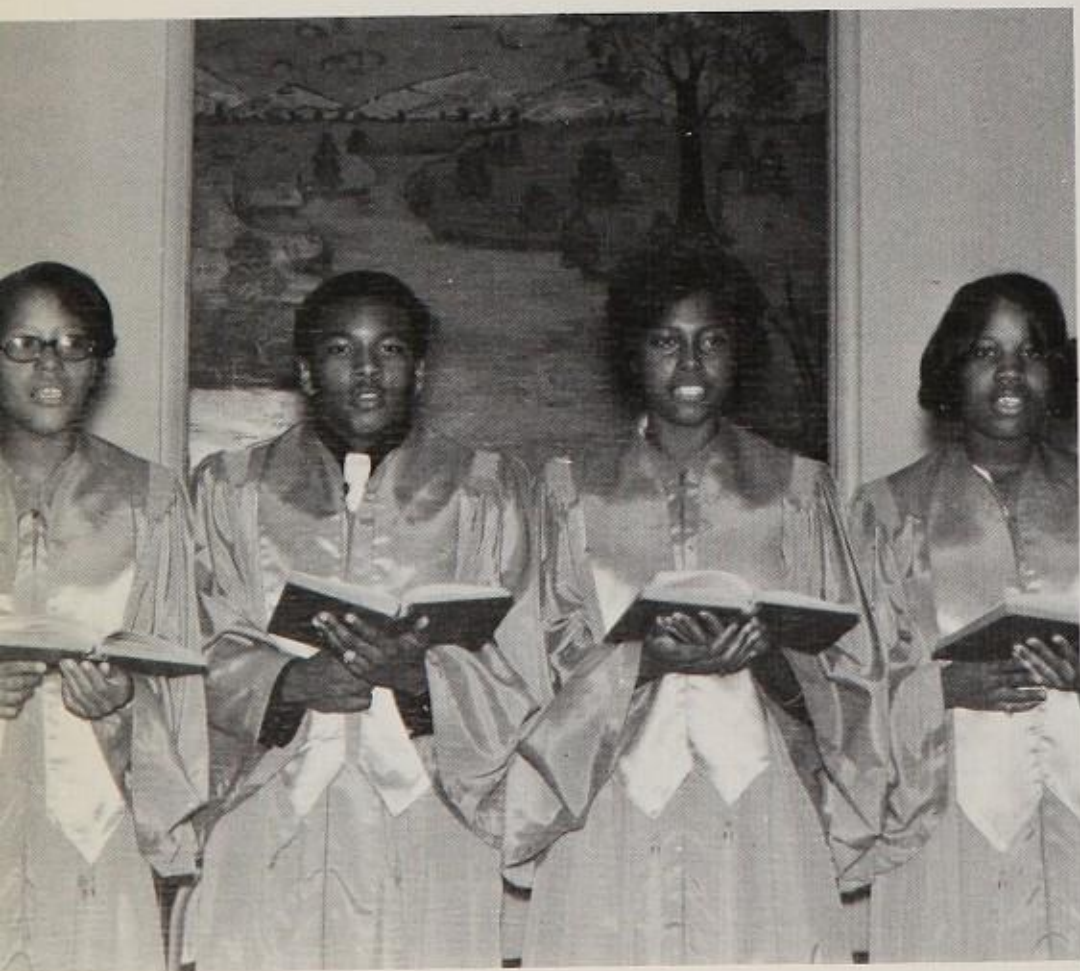

Our spirit reached its height for October home-coming as classes competed against classes. Preparations only kindled our spirit of togetherness. I noticed how spirit is contagious. Somebody starts it and passes it on.

Living Each Moment

Despite all the dreams we had for the future, we seemed to enjoy the present. Yesterday was gone. We realized we could only live today once, so we made the most of those few precious moments called, right now.

Ricky,
 You're a great girl, very good looking, with a great personality and you have helped to make this one of my best years in school ever. I wish all the happiness and luck in the world

Miss East High

February 13 was a snowy but exciting evening for nineteen young ladies who vied for the crown of Miss East High 1971. The contest, centered around a Valentine's Day theme, had Super Shan of WMAK as master of ceremonies along with his sidekick secretary, Juanita Beasley. The two entertained during periods in which the judges consulted and made their final decisions. First, each of the contestants, who represented clubs and organizations at East, displayed a three-minute talent presentation. Later, they returned in evening wear to demonstrate their poise and grace with turns and a walk along the stage.

A happy promenade for the queen.

At the end of intermission after consultation and tallying of points, the judges made their selection of five finalists from which emerged the two runners-up and the decision all had waited to hear - the winner of the title of Miss East High 1971, Cathy Hester.

Christmas Activities

The energy, imagination, and enthusiasm of many students were drained in the hustle and bustle of the Christmas season. The annual Christmas packages were delivered by the Student Council. The family life classes and many clubs visited hospitals and orphanages to try to spread holiday spirit. The preparation was topped by a Christmas party given by the Student Council. Music was played by the Pops Blue Ribbon Band.

CYNTHIA CONNER

It was a moment the 1971 seniors had looked forward to for a long time and after May 7, the final night of preparation and presentation of the handsome and beautiful, the 1971 Senior Prom became merely a memory. For all present there was the timid and proud thrill of attending the prom, but this was most assuredly true for Queen Marion Morton and her attendants who felt the honor of being the center of attention at the 1971 Prom.

Homecoming

Roses, royalty, and victory were the characteristics of the 1971 Homecoming. East High's alumni and fans were thrilled at a 6-0 victory over Cumberland. During halftime activities, Bari Chitwood was crowned Homecoming Queen and her court was presented. "Gilly Baby," a WVOL disc jockey, played records for the dance afterwards.

Student Government

Links in a spirit chain were sold, fellowship and fun were offered at the Homecoming Dance. Girls were allowed to wear slacks. A Christmas party provided moments for listening to music and dancing. A special Appreciation Day for teachers was organized, and a revision of the Constitution was presented. All of this would not have been possible had it not been for the hardworking Student Council.

Math

This club learned math not usually taught in the classroom and familiarized themselves with the many facets of mathematics. Through their new knowledge, members of this club discovered the importance of mathematics in today's professional, business, and scientific fields.

Audio Visual

There was not a more valuable club in the school than this one. This year, with many new projectors and the addition of the ninth grade to service, there was much more work to be done. The A-V boys never failed us. Not a play was presented or a film shown with which the club didn't help.

Grey Eagle Band

This year the East High Grey Eagle band flew high in all its endeavors. Besides having a successful football season, the band participated in many activities. At Madison's annual Hillbilly Day festivities, the Eagles received a "B" rating in marching competition and made a good showing at the parade afterwards. The following week the band attended the marching festival at Vanderbilt University where it received a "B" rating trophy.

Fighting Eagles Move to A.A.A.

Our fighting Eagles went into the A.A.A. this year and put up a tremendous fight in all their games. With a rugged schedule that upset the Eagles' chance for two title years in a row, Jim Anglea and Charlie "Horse" Clemons were selected to 2nd team All-Metro for their fine performances. Although our 2-8 season was a disappointment to the players and coaches, the student body was really proud of the effort made by the Grey Eagle football team.

Boys' basketball was exciting and successful again this year as all five starters maintained double figure averages during the regular season. Finishing third again in the 19th District tournaments, the Eagle team displayed great agility and stamina in facing key opponents. They never failed to produce their best effort and to bring honor to their school. Special tribute should be paid Aaron Parker who was named to the 19th District All-Tournament Team.

Girls' Basketball

Deep appreciation is due Coach Donna Howell for her able direction of the girls' basketball team. Under her guidance this year, the girls' team seemed to come alive, and it was quite a shock to the spectators when the female Eagles won their first game of the season. The amazement continued throughout the season as our team won 7 games and lost 12. The girls lost some really rugged games, but they never gave up hope. They proved this by going into overtime twice in one of their games with Cumberland before falling to the opponent, 62-60.

It was a new team with a new coach this year as the first freshman girls' team in the history of East High was organized. There was no doubt that the girl team members had a good time as they competed and took full advantage of the experience that they gained.

The freshman cheerleaders never failed in spirit as they cheered their teams throughout the year.

Hard work, dedication, and time-consuming effort were the ingredients which made up our track team this year. The performance of each member in the competitive race in the N. I. L. was never doubted to be less than his best. With a new $35,000 rubberized track, the team proudly hosted many N. I. L. track meets this year.

Baseball / Golf

ROW 1: S. Fulcher, J. Anglea, M. Calvin, T. Trumphour.
ROW 2: T. Shea, D. Yates, R. Boone.

When our baseball team returned this year with a number of experienced players, it was evident that we were going to have another good season. In tough competition the Eagles displayed great second efforts and a "never give up" attitude which brought forth exciting and hard won victories.

Quality, not quantity, was what our golf team consisted of this year. Though few in number, each member of the team exerted an individual drive to put East in the running for the N.I.L. championship.

L. DuRard, R. Westfield, G. Tombs.

Girls'/Boys' Tennis

With only two returning experienced players this year, the girls' tennis team faced a challenge to develop new potential. The important thing was that they wanted to play; the result was a fine year of experience and competitive tennis with East's girls completing a tough schedule.

Consisting of several members with three year competitive experience, the boys' team enjoyed the game and were masters of its techniques. These characteristics helped put them in the running for high positions in their league.

Working hard as a group, painting signs, decorating goal posts, planning pep meetings, practicing cheers, and trying to keep spirit up throughout the sports seasons - these were the activities that made up the lives of the 1970-71 East High cheerleaders. These vivacious girls held their heads up high because they believed that one who can not accept defeat can never accept victory.

Senior Honors

Many were content just to slide through their senior year and not concentrate on academic achievement. There were others, however, who never faltered in their diligent struggle to put forth their best and keep their grade point averages high.

Ricki: (or is it Ricki or Ricarda Lucille)

Best of luck to a very cute girl who is also a good student. I've enjoyed having you in class the past two years and look forward to having you in journalism class next year. (maybe office machines too). You've really been a big help to me the past two years. I really appreciate all the work you've done. I hope you have enjoyed working for me. You're really a good secretary - except when you sulk, which is quite often lately - just kidding! Too bad your "groovy Class" kept you from trying out for cheerleader. I think you'd have made it. This summer we'll see how good a secretary you really are - working for the typing service. You'll have to use your initiative and proofread. You're a real good dresser but your dresses are ~~so~~ so short I can't tell when you're wearing shorts or a dress. See you this summer.

Joe Skutlani (Superman)

Ricki to one of the ~~best~~ sweetest & nicest girls
I know. I've enjoyed being in typing with you this year. You are a great person. Stay that way & don't ever change & you'll go far.
Be good this summer
and/or have fun.

Love ya!
Donna

Ricky, rough although I haven't known you but for about 5 months, in that short length of time, I have come to like you real well. You're sweet, cute, and have everything going for you. It was fun, being in typing, and staying after school for Mr. Butoni with you. You're a great friend, and I will cherish our friendship. Hope to see you next year, in the summer. Best of luck.

Love ya, sorry
